Spotlight sends Kerri from Hillside to Paris!

Spotlight is proud to announce the winner of their very first Canvas Art Competition, is Kerri Mouat from Hillside, Victoria.

Kerri has been awarded the grand prize, winning a trip to Paris to visit the Louvre Museum plus the opportunity to have her winning canvas displayed at the Skepsi Gallery in Melbourne!

The competition required customers to purchase a canvas and paint selection from the Spotlight Renoir range and create a canvas art design of their choice. Kerri's winning painting was of Nancy 'bird' Walton, Australia's first female Aviator, "I chose to paint Nancy 'as she is an inspiring Australian woman to me, and I wanted to create a work of Art that would make people smile" Kerri said.

Kerri has many creative talents but up until now had not painted for over 11 years, Spotlight was happy to hear the Canvas Art Competition had inspired her to pick up the brush again and rediscover her talent and love for painting.

The judges at Spotlight were shocked to hear she hadn't been painting for so long, as even though they had an overwhelming response to the competition with a high standard of over 200 paintings submitted, they were so impressed with Kerri's talent and the attention to detail her painting of Nancy displayed, she was the clear winner!

The Opening night of the exhibition at the Skepsi Gallery was held on August 6th where Kerri attended with friends and family to accept her prize and see her canvas on display. Kerri speaking about the win on the night said "I will be taking my daughter to Paris with me as she was the one that really encouraged me to enter the competition"

"We have always dreamed about going to Paris to see the Louvre together, and now thanks to Spotlight it's happening!"

I have attached some images of Kerri and her winning painting from the opening night, for further information or images please contact:
